

Working Student / Internship: Business Application Developer 6 months m/w/d

Location: Munich, Germany

Responsibilities

- Join the Cloud-native Transformation of our powerful JEE application
- Take a supporting role in software development
- Work on challenging projects
- Collaborate within our international team of experts on software development, product management, customer service and quality assurance

Qualifications

- Advanced studies in computer science, or similar
- First experience in Java programming and cloud technologies
- Commitment, willingness to learn
- Strong analytical and conceptual skills
- Advanced English language skills

We offer mentorship from ATOSS employees to guide you through your internship experience and to build personal networks and friendships with people who share your passion for technology and progress. We will also assist you with the entry process and finding an apartment.

Your Benefits

Market success: More than 12.000 customers | Strong growth | Publicly listed company | Organization & culture: Flat hierarchies | Security & Stability | Innovative & teamoriented | Structured Onboarding: Mentors | Extensive onboarding program | Location benefits: Home Office | Gympass | Events | LinkedIn Learning etc. | Other benefits: Optimized remuneration | Special employee discounts

With our software products, we digitize workforce planning and workforce deployment processes in companies and thus improve the work-life balance for millions of employees worldwide. We enable companies to involve their employees in these processes and better take their wishes into account when organizing working time. In this way, we help companies work more creatively, intelligently and humanely, revolutionizing the interplay between profitability and humanity. Cross-industry, in more than 50 countries, cloud-based. And we are successful. Our share price has grown by more than 1,000% over the last ten years. Become part of this success story!

Become part of this success story.

Apply with one click and simply upload your CV.